

Southwestern Philosophical Society

Dues Notice

Dues are just $50 a year for regular members, $25 a year for students, and includes a subscription to Southwest Philosophy Review, which is published two times a year. Or, you may choose a sustaining membership for $75, which will enhance the Society's ability to offer support for students and younger scholars.

There are no dues for Emeritus members of the organization. If you have recently become Emeritus, please let us know. The Society will gratefully accept voluntary donations for any amount from the Emeritus members to help defray journal costs.

Dues may also be paid at the November conference, but if you are unable to attend, we will happily accept your dues anytime during the year. Please print this form and send it with your dues, payable to SWPS, to:
